ADVICE ON THE USE OF NATURAL GAS

An expert in the use of natural gas gives the following advice in the care of burners to get the best results. After investigating he says: "In the majority of cases that I have dealt with, I have found that most of the trouble is caused by mixers and mixing chambers being closed off, or an accumulation of dust and other matter in mixer or mixing chamber, and to remedy this, all that is necessary is to remove the burner from the stove, and pass a good wire, or better brush through the mixer into boiler or burner. After brushing out thoroughly, tap the burner slightly with a hammer when all rubbish will fall out.

If the above operation does not give the desired results, reduce gas supply by adjusting needle on regulating valve until the gas flame burns with a bright blue base, with a red tip. Any visible signs of white flame is a sure sign of bad combustion, and one of the chief factors in connection with the high gas bills."

MORE CANADIAN SOLDIERS

ARRIVE IN ENGLAND

Another 4,000 Canadian soldiers have landed safely in England. Word was received by the steamship companies that the steamers which left Halifax February 22, had reached their destination. The steamers which took the first quota of the men and equipment were Megantic and Southland, which put into Queenstown and the Lusitania which docked at Liverpool. The coldest takes over on the three steamers were from every part of the Dominion, and among them were the Sixth Field Artillery company, batteries from Montreal, Kingston and the Maritime provinces, 23rd Battalion Westmount Rifles, 32nd Battalion Winnipeg, and 30th Battalion of Victoria, B. C.

In view of the German submarine activities great anxiety was held and great secrecy was maintained and it is a great relief to know they arrived safely.

HOW THE GREAT

CITIES WASTE LIGHT

[From The Toronto Globe.] The dimming of the lights of London, which has been deemed necessary by the authorities as a protest against aerial attacks, has brought forcibly to the attention of illuminating engineers the great waste of light that has been universal in the past, and this condition prevails, not only in London, but in every other city in the world.

It is pointed out that in the case of shop windows there has been little endeavor to concentrate the light on the wares displayed, with the result that much light is wasted, and the excess is injurious to passersby. Under these conditions the expenditure for light largely fails to secure the best returns. The wares are not lighted to the best effect, and if the misdirected light is unpleasant to the passerby he will not stop to observe.

The same conditions prevail to some extent in the case of the powerful arc flame and high pressure gas lights used for illuminating the streets; for it is felt that the illumination from these could be controlled and directed so as to secure a better distribution of lighting, and at the same time be more agreeable to the eye.

Illuminating engineers have worked almost exclusively in the interest of the lighting companies, but the customer will soon find it to his advantage to consult this comparatively new profession.
